Bad Day for Them, Inasmuch as Cubs Capture Two From Phillies.

Points were lopped off the Giants' lead to such an extent yesterday that they are only eight and a half games ahead of the Cubs. It was a bad day for McGraw's They were beaten by the Pirates and the Cubs beat the Phillies twice. The Chicagoans are hitting up a swift clip. To-day's Schedule.

Pittsburg in New York St. Louis in Brooklyn. Cincinnati in Boston

Chicago in Philadelphia Rube Marquard was in the bey only an inning and a third against the Pirates yesterday afternoon, but that was an inning and a third too long. The Rube's occupancy of the chair of pitching was long enough for the Pirates to make only ineffective, but had poor control. He | was knocked out in the second inning, and although Ames was hit freely he did far better than his much bumped predecessor in preventing seconds.

Clarke's black flag crew were in rollicking mood, slugging the ball with great virility and buffeting the Giants about as if the latter weren't much of a club. There were six extra base hits in the Pittsburg grist, three doubles and two triples in addition to the four bagger. The Giants couldn't get their maul sticks to working. Hendrix was too much for them. He had streaks of wildness, mostly when he churned the ball up to the plate almost as fast as it came back to him, but he was still better at grazing the edges of the plate with a fast shoot which was likely at any time to turn a prospective walk into a strike out. His slippery benders fanned nine of the somewhat bewildered Glants.

home team's fielding was sharp it was at the bat that the Glants' playing was flat and unprofitable. when Wagner for the was to be and sent Donlin in ahead of him. Donlin had forced Carey, who had walked. The Giants had a chance for at least one run in the first, but after Snodgrass had drawn four balls, Doyle, Becker and Merkle gave a fly ball to each of the outfielders.

The second inning was searcely under way before there was further evidence that Marquard wasn't the man for the job. McCarthy whanged a long trible will be job. McCarthe job. McCarthy whanged a long trible will be job. McCarthe job. McCarthy whanged a long trible will be job. McCarthy will be job. McCarthy passed ball, accompanying a third strike Mayers might have thrown him out, but there was nobody at first to throw to. Merkle playing wide of his base. Byrne sloughed a hit to right, Carey one to centre and Donlin one to left. Byrne's was a short fly over boyle and it scored McCarthy, Bryne and Carey each moved up on a wild pitch. The infield then McCarthy, Bryne and Carey cach moved up on a wild pitch. The infield then came in and Donlin lifted a little fly over short, which fell to earth unim-peded. Fletcher couldn't get out to it and the outfielders made no frenzied ef-forts to get in to it. It brought in two more runs, whereupon Marquard vacated the premises.

A couple of hits in the third inning did the Giants no good because Snod-grass tried to go from first to third on Doyle's slap to right.

GIANTS' CHANCES TO WIN

Games With Chicago, Pittsburg and Philadelphia Are Important.

to depend upon the seven games those teams must play together, with the scheduled and postponed contests each scheduled and postponed contests each team has with Pittsburg and Philadelphia. Taking everything into consideration, impartial baseball critics figure that the Giants should finish on top unless there's an unexpected slump while the Cubs are sweeping everything before them. Both McGraw and Chance are them. Both McGraw and Chance are confident of success, but there's many a slip in the national game. The invasion of Chicago, Pittsburg and Philadelphia by the Giants on August 15, 16, 17, 22, 23 and 24 and September 4, 5, 6, and 7 will just about settle the controversy to the satisfaction of the baseball world, it

Randolph, Jr. and Athletics must keep up their fight under similar conditions, but the Athlet-ics, it is admitted, cannot win the flag unless they have a wonderful winning streak in the last seven weeks of the race, during which the two leaders unex-pectedly go to pieces. Unlike the West-ern clubs in the National League, the White Sox, Browns, Clevelands and De-troits are not in shape to play havoc with the Red Sox, Senators and Athletics, while these teams do not expect stub-born resistance from the New York Americans in the games yet to be played. Aniericans in the games yet to be played. It is a foregone conclusion that the Giants' right to the pennant will be determined long before the Red Sox can safely claim championship honors, and

The Giants must depend almost entirely on Marquard, Mathewson and Tesreau in the most important games from now on. The Cubs appear to be better equipped in the box with such a string as Lavender, Richie, Leifeld, Reulbach, Cheney and Brown. The Red Sox are well fixed in this department with Wood, O'Brien, Hall, Collins, Pape and Bedient, being a trifle stronger than the Senators with Johnson, Groom, Hughes, Vaughn and Cashion, But if the Athletics' great boxmen—Cooms, Bender and Plank—gradually increase their effectiveness, with Brown and Houck to aid them, keep your eyes on Connie Mack! keep your eyes on Connie Mack!

Jim Flynn and Tommy Burns, both vicsim Flynn and Tommy Burns, both vic-tims of Jack Johnson, are preparing to visit this city in search of bouts with the leading white hopes. Flynn and Burns may be induced to meet at the Garden before matches with other big fellows are entertained.

Attell another chance. It is believed such bout would prove a big card.

Beginning on August 26 Eastern track-will afford seventy days of racing for horsemen, which means that, according to present indications, the Canadian tracks will be made to suffer for lack of racing material this fall. Maryland will have consecutive meetings at Havre de Grace, Laurel and Pimilco, with the usual wind-up at Jamestown. There will be no of days, purses will be extremely liberal and the railroad jumps will be comparatively short. Already the Canadian associations, fearful of competition, are planning to increase the value of their stakes and purses, but a majority of the planning to increase the value of their stakes and purses, but a majority of the turfmen v ho remain in the game say they prefer to race on American soil. The appointment of Jockey Club officials exclusively by the Havre de Grace management is bearing fruit, inasmuch as the most prosperous stables have engaged stalls.
